MINNEAPOLIS

Acacia wood or
Lenca wood

Lenca wood

The Lenga is a tree that can reach 30 to 40 meter at its best development. The species 'beech wood' is one of Chile's most promising species because of the extent of area covered, the quality of its timber and the quality of existing forests.

Lenga, or fireland cherry, varies from light tan to pale pink colour. The sap wood is described as light brown to yellowish in colour. Lenga exhibits a medium degree of colour change, first darkening to a medium pinkish-red colour and then ambering slightly.

The grain is usually straight.

Wood moderately durable, easy to work and stable.
